KEATING was extremely vague in his explanation of the connection of the above names with the alleged telephone tapping and did not know what the caller meant by naming these persons.

KEATING advised the caller that he had to attend a meeting at the Waldorf Hotel and gave the caller a phone number where he could be reached. KEATING received a second call from the same caller at the Waldorf Hotel, but no additional information obtained.

KEATING has no indication of his own that his telephones were tapped or that there was any reason for doing so. He does not know the identity of the caller and stated that he may possibly be a "nut".

Mr. KEATING was unable to explain the connection of the above names with the alleged telephone tapping, and did not know what the caller meant by naming these persons.

Mr. KEATING said that he advised the unknown caller that he had to attend a meeting at the Waldorf Hotel and gave the caller a phone number where he could be reached at the Waldorf. He said that later that same evening he received a second call from the same caller at the Waldorf, but no additional information was obtained. Mr. KEATING advised that he had no indication of his own that his telephones were being tapped, and he said that there was no reason for anyone to tap his telephones. He advised that he does not know anyone by the name of and the identity of the caller was unknown to him. He said that the caller might have been a "nut".

EDWARD M. KEATING, 54 Rosewood Drive, Atherton, California, advised that he was Publisher and Editor of "Ramparts" magazine, 1182 Chestnut Street, Menlo Park, California. He advised that he was currently in New York City on business and was staying at the Algonquin Hotel.

He advised that at about 5:10 p.m. on October 26, 1964, he received a mysterious telephone call at the Algonquin Hotel from a person who said his name was (phonetic). This person advised him that both his business and residence telephones were tapped, and also that the phone of his attorney was tapped. When he inquired whether the caller meant Mr. KUNSTLER, the caller said "yes". Mr. KEATING advised that he had been in contact with Attorney WILLIAM KUNSTLER of New York City in connection with some articles which were published in "Ramparts" magazine. He said that he attempted to obtain from any evidence as to how he knew that the phones were tapped, and during this conversation, the caller mentioned the following names:
